TOWNSHIP PATTERNS

Township Patterns is the perfect example of conscious fashion. Their eco-friendly, handmade, quality bags will have you doing good while feeling good about spending your money.

Nicole-Marie Iresh, founder and chairman of Township Patterns started the business in order to create job opportunities for underprivileged women in South Africa. The women produce bags made from GMO cotton or hessian, which makes their bags eco-friendly. The products can be found in Pick 'n Pay stores nationwide and a new Fashion Township Boutique is set to open on December 1, sporting a clothing line and range of trendy accessories.
